

Journal #2991

from sdc

11.19.13

Pow Wow Calendar Update

IMLS Provides $4.3 Million for Early Learning Projects

Shrine Dedicated to God of Death Unearthed in Mexico

NATHPO: Tribal Preservation News

SERI Educational Webinar: Social Media Preservation - REGISTRATION NOW OPEN

Actors, etc wanted

Looking for Teachers, home school families or Scout leaders interested in a fun new way to teach US geography

Rescuer's Relief, Inc Adventurer's Club North America

Stalled UN Climate Talks Push a Generation to Call Out Fossil Fuel Companies

The Year the Monarch Didn't Appear

How the Wild West REALLY looked

The Great Spirit

You won't believe what Costa Rica is being sued over

'Cowboys and Indians' Camp Together to Build Alliance Against Keystone XL

Pow Wow Calendar Update

Read more:

<http://www.powwows.com/2013/11/22/pow-wow-calendar-update-november-22-2013>

IMLS

IMLS Provides $4.3 Million for Early Learning Projects

Museums and Libraries will address school readiness and summer reading loss with grants from IMLS. Read More

IMLS Director Susan Hildreth Chats on Twitter

Susan Hildreth will participate in a conversation about the role of libraries and museums in early learning during a Twitter chat hosted by the Institute for Educational Leadership on Wednesday, December 4, from 9:00 p.m. to 10 p.m. EST. The chat series is a social media professional development conversation that enables parents, family engagement practitioners, teachers and others to develop new and innovative approaches to partnerships. Follow @US_IMLS on Twitter, and join the conversation using the hashtag #PTchat.

Call for Applications: FY 2014 Sparks! Ignition Grants for Libraries

IMLS is accepting applications for Sparks! Ignition Grants for Libraries. The application deadline is February 3, 2014. Read More

Call for Applications: 2014 National Leadership Grants for Libraries

IMLS is accepting applications for National Leadership Grants for Libraries. The application deadline is February 3, 2014. Read More

The Dividends of Digitization Investments—A Reflection

The IMLS-funded report “Searching for Sustainability: Strategies from Eight Digitized Special Collections” addresses how to digitize special collections and develop successful strategies to make sure those collections remain accessible and relevant over time. Read More

Hang Out, Mess Around, and Geek Out at the UA GeoTech Lab

The new learning lab at the Alabama Museum of Natural History gives teens access to technology they might not be able to use at home or in their schools. These gadgets will allow hands-on experimentation, collaboration, and tinkering in areas of personal interest. Read More

Children's Museum of Manhattan Launches Early Childhood Health Curriculum Approved by the National Institutes of Health

Director Hildreth joined Let's Move! Executive Director Sam Kass at the Children's Museum of Manhattan (CMOM) for the launch of EatPlayGrow™, a new early childhood educational curriculum designed to keep children healthy. Read More

Career Resources for Young People

The U.S. Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration (DOL/ETA) provides resources that help teens and young adults explore careers, identify education options, and search for jobs. Read More

Bringing NASA Science Directly to Your Museum and Library

Learn how you can receive NASA educational materials to display publicly in your museum or library. Read More

Millions of Moments of Discovery: US2020 Launches City Competition

The US2020 City Competition capitalizes on the role of cities as centers for innovation by supporting efforts to build local STEM mentoring capacity for underserved youth. Museums and libraries are eligible to apply. Read More

*****
archaeology.org
PUEBLA, MEXICO--The only shrine ever found dedicated to Mictlantecuhtli, the god of death, has been discovered near the site of Tehuacan. Archaeologists from Mexico's National Institute of Anthropology and History have called the fifteenth-century structure, built by the Popoloca people, the Temple...

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TRIBAL HISTORIC PRESERVATION OFFICERS

Tribal Preservation News November 17, 2013

Auction News & Updates:

Earlier this month, Skinner, Inc., a Boston-based auction company, pulled from sale the "Sioux Beaded and Quilled Hide Shirt" Lot 1999. See the company's website for general information on the November 9, 2013, sale:

<http://www.emsforall.com/link.php?M=15503&N=957&L=452&F=H>

For a complete listing of sale items ("lots") and results for the sale of American Indian & Ethnographic Arts on November 9, 2013, go to:

<http://www.skinnerinc.com/auctions/past>

NAGPRA News:

Two New Members of the NPS NAGPRA Review Committee:

On September 23, 2013, the Secretary of the Interior Sally Jewell appointed two Review Committee members to initial four year terms. Dennis Harold O'Rourke, professor of anthropology at the University of Utah and previously nominated by SAA and AAM, was nominated by the Review Committee at the May meeting as the member-at-large. Shannon Keller O'Loughlin is an Attorney Partner, and Chair of the Indian Nations Law and Policy Practice Group, Lewis Brisbois Bisgaard & Smith, LLP, Washington, DC. She was nominated by the Tonawanda Seneca Nation, Seneca Nation of Indians, and Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma, in the nominations from tribes and Native Hawaiian organizations that closed July 15. Ms. O'Loughlin is a citizen of the Choctaw Nation. Click here for committee roster:

http://www.nps.gov/nagpra/REVIEW/RC\_Roster\_Sep2013.htm

New NAGPRA Grants Coordinator:

The NPS National NAGPRA Program recently hired Thomas K. Cullerton in NAGPRA grants management.

NPS Proposed Rule on 43 CFR 10.7 Published (see below)

NATHPO will be submitting comments and as part of that process, we will be convening at least one conference call with Native American representatives for discussion.

Federal Agencies Regulatory Requests for Comment:

FEMA Releases Proposed Tribal Consultation Policy for Comments

In late October 2013, FEMA released a proposed Tribal Consultation Policy for comment. The policy will establish a process to guide FEMA officials on how to engage Indian tribes and will affect the way that the agency will communicate and collaborate with tribal leaders on agency actions that have tribal implications. Comments are due March 3, 2014. Click here for link to proposed policy: <http://www.fema.gov/fema-tribal-affairs>

NPS - Sec. of Interior's Historic Preservation Professional Qualif. Standards

After a lengthy delay in the process, the National Park Service of the Interior Department is working on revising the SOI standards. Earlier this year, the NPS sent out a letter informing Indian tribes of this initiative. Click here for a link to the website that includes the current standards and will include future information:

<http://ncptt.nps.gov/articles/c2a/soi-professional-qualification-standards/>

U.S. Forest Service, Agriculture Department Spec. Forest Products:

Tribal Consultation Underway on Forest Service Directives For the past few months, three Forest Service staffs-Tribal Relations Forest Management, and Fire and Aviation-revised their Forest Service directives, which tell Forest Service staff what to do and how to do it and sent out to Indian tribes (bundled tribal consultation). The Fire and Spec. Forest Products directives' tribal consultation period ended on October 6, 2013, but the Tribal Relations Directives tribal consultation period has been extended to November 27, 2013. Click here for more information: <http://www.fs.fed.us/spf/tribalrelations/news/blog.shtml#story022>

NPS Proposed Rule on 43 CFR 10.7 Published

On October 29, 2013, the new NAGPRA regulation section 10.7, Disposition of Unclaimed Human Remains and other Cultural Items Discovered on Federal lands After November 16, 1990, was published as a proposed rule in the Federal Register. Click here for notice of proposed rulemaking:

<https://www.federalregister.gov/articles/2013/10/29/2013-25511/disposition-of-unclaimed-human-remains-and-other-cultural-items-discovered-on-federal-lands-after>

Deadline for comments is December 30, 2013.

New Reports:

"Honoring Our Nation's Veterans: Saving Their Places of Health Care and Healing"

Study by the National Trust for Historic Preservation looked at the Department of Veterans Affairs' preservation practices at its more than 2,000 historic properties that provide care to our nation's veterans. Many of these are medical campus buildings that represent the crown jewels of a vast and diverse coll. of historic buildings and landscapes. Unfortunately, many of these irreplaceable landmarks are currently threatened with abandonment and demolition. That is why the Trust named two of the campuses—the Battle Mountain Sanitarium in Hot Springs, South Dakota, and Milwaukee Soldiers Home in Wisconsin—as National Treasures and is working to save them. Click here for report:

<http://www.preservationnation.org/information-center/saving-a-place/va-hospital/NTHP-VA-Report-FINAL.pdf>

"Successful Practices for Effective Tribal Consultation"

TRB's National Cooperative Highway Research Program (NCHRP) recently released a report about practices and programs to achieve successful transportation projects on tribal lands. NCHRP project 25-25 Task 79 study on Successful Practices for Effective Tribal Consultation describes specific guidance for creating, establishing, and maintaining effective and successful consultation with Indian tribes in the context of surface transportation planning and project delivery. The principal objective of this research is to learn what works best in sustaining successful tribal consultation programs for surface transportation projects as specified in Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. Click here for link to report:

http://onlinepubs.trb.org/onlinepubs/nchrp/docs/NCHRP25-25%2879%29\_FR.pdf

Call for Applications:

Call for Applicants: Anne Ray Internship at the Indian Arts Research Center:

The School for Advanced Research, Indian Arts Research Center (IARC) offers two nine-month internships (September 1-May 31) to individuals who are recent college graduates, current graduate students, or junior mus. professionals interested in furthering their professional mus. experience and enhancing their intellectual capacity for contributing to the expanding field and discourse of mus. studies. Deadline is March 2, 2014. Click here for more information:

<http://sarweb.org/?internships>

Application for Corporation for National and Community Service:

The AmeriCorps State and National Grants FY 2014 (draft) Notice of Funding Opp. (NOFO) is available online. For more information, click here:

<http://www.nationalservice.gov/build-your-capacity/grants/funding-opportunities/2014/ameri-corps-state-and-national-grants-fy-2014>

Soc. for American Archaeology Scholarships for Native Peoples:

The Soc. for American Archaeology (SAA) Native American Scholarships Fund is an endowment established to foster a sense of shared purpose and positive interaction between archaeologists and Native Americans. Scholarships are open to all Native peoples from anywhere in the Americas, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, and Indigenous Pacific Islanders. Deadline is December 16, 2013. Click here for more information:

<http://www.saa.org/Default.aspx?TabId=163>

NPS Battlefield Preservation Grants: *(think about a different perspective at several sites)

Proposals are being accepted for the American Battlefield Protection Program. Deadline is early January 2014. Click here for more information:

<http://www.nps.gov/hps/abpp/grants/battlefieldgrants/2014grants.html>

National Endowment for the Arts: *(think about an anthology of Native writers)

NEA is accepting applications for The Big Read, a national program designed to revitalize the role of literature in American culture and to encourage reading for fun and enlightenment.

Deadline is January 28, 2014. Click here for more information:

<http://neabigread.org/>

*****

Becky Julson posted a new message:

SERI Educational Webinar: Social Media Preservation - REGISTRATION NOW OPEN

Register Now for the SERI Educational Webinar: Social Media Preservation

Tuesday, December 3, 2013 2pm Eastern, 1pm Central, 12pm Mountain, 11am Pacific

Increasingly, social media is becoming a critical tool for states to communicate and interact with their constituents. For some people, social media is their primary source of news regarding government activities. However, social media poses many challenges for archives and libraries in terms of collecting, preserving, and providing access to content. This CoSA webinar will discuss its worthiness for preservation, the challenges of archiving the many types of social media, and two states' experiences using different tools to archive and provide access to content.

We will use the iLinc online web conferencing system for this meeting. You will need to register via the iLinc site in order to participate using this link: <https://iper.ilinc.com/register/wvmhrhb>. You'll receive an invitation email directly from the iLinc system that will include instructions for connecting to the conference. If you don't find it in your in box, be sure to check your spam filter. If you can't find it at all, contact Becky Julson (rjulson@statearchivists.org) so she can send you a replacement invitation.

-----

With funding from a Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), the SERI educational program supports the delivery of electronic records related education and training to state and territorial archives through scholarships for continuing educational opportunities, introductory and advanced electronic records institutes, and educational webinars.

*****

Toni Suttie

Non Union Medical Shoot CASTING.....

I have a tentative shoot for research MEDICAL Commercial spots that include the following basic details:

- Tentative shoot date of either December 2nd or 3rd.
- Half to full shoot-day for actors in Sacramento area
- Possible speaking and non-speaking simple roles
- Fluent Spanish-speaking actors needed as well
- Looks like 6-8 actors total, both genders, one pair Spanish, ranging from a pair in their early 30's to men/women 50+ for the rest....

To submit for this project, email your headshot and avail for 12/2 and 12/3 in Sacramento, Ca to toni.suttie@gmail.com ASAP

~~~~~

URGENT DATE CHANGE!

Just got word THIS MORNING that the date must be changed from 12/5 to 12/12 at 5:30, who is still in?

I have been asked by the RSCVA and Jeff Spilman to Coordinate a panel of Entertainment Professionals geared toward ACTORS/CREW/MAKE UP/PHOTOGRAPHERS/AD AGENCIES/PRODUCTION COMPANIES, VOICE OVER PERFORMERS and other SUPPORT for Feature Film, we will discuss how SB165 will impact YOU and YOUR BUSINESS starting in January, please mark your calendar for 12/12 at 5:30p at RENO TAHOE STUDIOS, would love for you to be there.....

RSVCA will send out an official PRESS RELEASE as will our own Bill Brown on details, however this is a Networking gathering YOU DO NOT WANT TO MISS.... Very exciting expert panelist too!

We are excited about the recent developments regarding SB 165!

In Northern Nevada our Reno-Sparks Convention and Visitors Authority (RSCVA) has been busy promoting the industry to local business and residents. Film Reno Tahoe, part of the RSCVA has recently opened Reno Tahoe Studios, a 300,000 sq. ft. studio complex located in central Reno.

In addition to many other promotion, the RSCVA has conducted a series of panels aimed at local business's here in Reno. The next panel has to do with actors, performers, specialty performers and so forth; union and nonunion.

The date for this panel is 12 December at the Reno Tahoe Studios, at 5:30p.

*****

Lisa Watson

Looking for Teachers, home school families or Scout leaders interested in a fun new way to teach US geography and the importance of animal rescue and responsible pet ownership.. <https://www.facebook.com/notes/rescuers-relief-inc/rescuers-relief-inc-adventurers-club-north-america/583518925035351>

*****

Rescuer's Relief, Inc Adventurer's Club North America

Beginning April 2014, Rescuer's Relief will be traveling America's highways and back roads visiting and helping ferret rescues. Each month we will send our club members postcards in the mail, as well By: Rescuer's Relief, Inc.

*****

Stalled UN Climate Talks Push a Generation to Call Out Fossil Fuel Companies

By Jamie Henn, Yes! Magazine 22 November 13

Climate change is a difficult fight, but sitting in rooms like this one, it's hard not to feel optimistic.

I'm sitting here in a convergence space in downtown Warsaw, about a mile or so from the National Stadium, where for the last two weeks negotiators from around the world have failed to make any significant progress in the latest round of U.N. Climate Talks.

It's getting into the evening, and most of the activists here have been going full tilt for the last two weeks of talks, but the room is still abuzz with activity.

Next to me, Evelyn Araripe, an activist and journalist here with the Brazilian group Viração, is working on a recap of the day's events. Across the room, a group of young people with Friends of the Earth are planning their activities for the coming days. Downstairs, people are plotting out different ideas for videos and interviews they want to conduct tomorrow.

This is where the real work of solving climate change is happening: in a slightly rundown, old building just off the main shopping street here in Warsaw. Our setting lacks the orderliness of the sterile plenary halls over at the 19th Conference of the Parties, but it's abuzz with creativity and determination.

Especially right now. It's been just a few hours since much of civil society marched out of COP19 to protest the lack of progress at the talks. Of particular concern were the moves by big polluters like Australia and Japan to drop their commitments to cut emissions, the lack of finance on the table for developing countries, and the corporate takeover of a process that is supposed to represent the voices of people around the world.

Not only did our Polish government hosts allow for corporate sponsors to slap their logos all over the meetings, they went so far as to partner with the World Coal Association to host a major coal summit alongside the climate talks this week. It was the equivalent of throwing an arms fair next to a world peace conference - and naturally, it drew quite a bit of protest.

So today, with t-shirts reading "Polluters Talk, We Walk," some of the world's largest environmental organizations - Greenpeace, Oxfam, Friends of the Earth, 350.org, etc. - joined with development groups like ActionAid, labor networks like the International Trade Union Confederation, movements across the Global South like the Pan-African Climate Justice Alliance, and young people from around the world, to walk out on the conference.

The walk-out was a condemnation of these particular talks, not the entire UN process. The back of our shirts read "Volveremos," Spanish for, "we'll be back," stronger and more powerful than ever before.

We haven't given up hope on the UN climate negotiations, but these meetings were a particular travesty, and we know that they won't make significant process until we can stand up to the fossil fuel industry and break their stranglehold over our governments and economies.

The breadth and scope of today's walkout was an unprecedented development in the UN process. Individual groups have marched out of UN climate negotiations in the past (I've lost track of how many times groups like Friends of the Earth or 350.org have marched, protested, or gotten kicked out of meetings). But never before have so many groups, from giant NGOs like the World Wildlife Federation to people's movements from across the Global South, marched out together with a unified voice. Today's action was a small one - walking out of a conference - but it signified a new level of unity in the global climate movement.

After leaving the talks, hundreds of us came over here to the convergence space to share our thoughts on the day and commit ourselves to the hard work ahead. We're demanding a lot from our political leaders: real finance, strong emissions reductions, new mechanisms to deal with the loss and damage caused by climate change. We also need to demand a lot from ourselves: a new level of collaboration, a willingness to take risks, and focus on mobilizing a powerful movement in capitals around the world.

And we know we're not alone. Right now, photos are already coming in from "We Stand With You" vigils taking place around the world to honor the victims of Typhoon Haiyan and call for immediate climate action.

This is the seventh annual UN climate conference I've been to and it's hard not to be massively depressed about the entire process. Progress is slow, things fall apart. And yet, something about this year feels different.

For the first time, it feels like we really know who our enemies are. It's the fossil fuel industry, and from divestment campaigns to stopping pipelines, we're beginning to go after them in a serious way.

Climate change is a difficult fight, but sitting in rooms like this one, surrounded by activists from around the world who are pledging their hearts and lives to this struggle, it's hard not to feel optimistic. As Bill McKibben often says, I'm not sure that we're going to win, but we're going to put up one hell of a fight.

*****

The Stream: Pollution

The disposal of wastewater created during the mining of bituminous tar sands is a growing problem for Canada's oil industry, which must store the water in vast reservoirs, and the industry is planning expansions that could turn Alberta into the largest man-made lake district in the world, Bloomberg News reported. Environmentalists worry that the reservoirs will damage the surrounding ecosystem, causing wildlife deaths and potentially polluting nearby rivers.

Administrator of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, Gina McCarthy, expressed displeasure that rural communities in California's San Joaquin Valley still do not have safe drinking water, the Los Angeles Times reported. Officials say at least 200,000 and as many as 2.1 million residents do not have access to water that meets state health standards, while local and state governments are largely failing to act.

*****

The Year the Monarch Didn't Appear nytimes.com

The precipitous loss of native vegetation across the United States has led to a dramatic decline of insect populations.

*****

How the Wild West REALLY looked: Gorgeous sepia-tinted pictures show the landscape as it was... dailymail.co.uk

The photos, taken by Timothy O'Sullivan, are the first ever taken of the impressive landscape in the 1860s and 1870s as officials charted the land in search of untapped natural resources.

*****

The Great Spirit

Across the valley a thin ribbon of road rises to the rim of the horizon and disappears from sight. It looks like the edge of the world where everything stops simply because it is out of view. But other valleys, other hills, other roads exist beyond what can be seen from just one point. What seems to be the end of the road is a bend in the road. Keep going and there is a broader view, a clearer vision. The outer eye can see only so far, but the inner eye has vision without limit. We can make our views good or bad, negative or positive. What do you see from here?

<http://www.upworthy.com/your-4-minute-reminder-to-give-a-fuck-5?c=ufb1>

*****

You won't believe what Costa Rica is being sued over. action.sumofus.org

A Corporation asks Costa Rica for \$1 billion

*****

'Cowboys and Indians' Camp Together to Build Alliance Against Keystone XL

Kristin Moe, News Analysis: This sense of solidarity with the tribes has been growing among ranchers and white landowners across the region. Some the camp's organizers are part of a group that calls itself the Cowboy and Indian Alliance. While the "New CIA" is more of an identity than a formal organization, people associated with the group have been speaking out against the pipeline frequently at hearings, protests, and at a landmark climate rally in February in Washington, D.C.

READ | DISCUSS | SHARE

EAGLES Youth Co-Ed Tourney

~ Awards ~
1st - 3rd Place
All Stars, MVP's
& Sportsmanship

January 17-19, 2014
Hungry Valley Gym
~ $175.00 ~

ALL non-placing teams receive T-SHIRTS!!!

ALL divisions get same amount of playing time!!!
You pay the same...You play the same

Enter your team early
Call Tree 775-848-4341
Reno-Sparks, NV

